Recreation Guide & Map Green Mountain Byway South

The Green Mountain Byway runs through Cambridge, Hyde Park, Johnson, Morristown, Stowe and Waterbury, comprising the heart of the northern Green Mountains. This is Vermont's premier four-season recreation destination. This guide covers the southern portion of the byway.

Outdoor recreational activities and locations are depicted on the map and cross referenced in easy to use tables. Inset maps for Stowe Village area and Sterling Forest provide additional detail. Some activities require a fee.

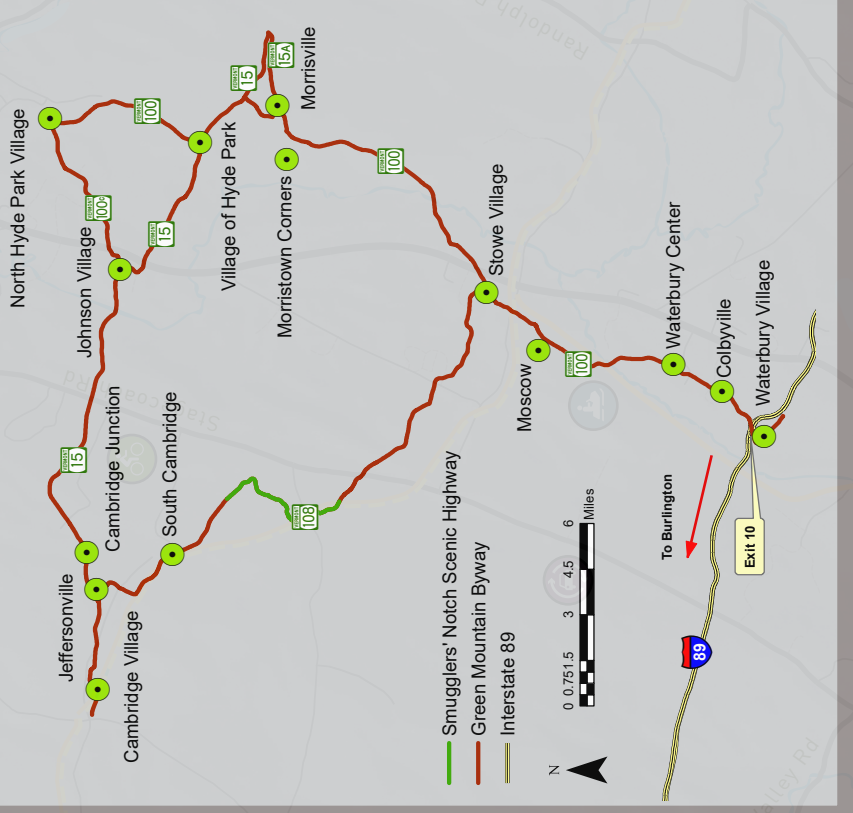

Additional information is available from the following resources.

COTTON BROOK / LITTLE RIVER S.P.
This area has gravelled surfaced forest roads suitable for beginner and intermediate riders. The stone walls, cemeteries, cellular holes and orchards give evidence of life one hundred years ago.

WINOOSKI RIVER
The Winooski River, whose name is derived from the native Abenaki word meaning "wild onions," is the destination for all water flowing through the Byway. The river hosts paddling, has some noteworthy fishing holes and serves as a source of hydroelectric power.

PERRY HILL MOUNTAIN BIKING
Perry Hill contains technically oriented single-track trails with some steep rugged terrain. Access is from East River Rd, just south of Waterbury Village. For intermediate and advanced riders: waterburytrails.com
