FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ANNOUNCING: Stowe Mountain Film Festival Friday, October 25 and Saturday, October 26!

STOWE, VT (June 13, 2019): After a successful pilot in 2018 of the Mountainfilm on Tour experience at Spruce Peak Arts this year the event is expanding to include education programs, multiple screenings, and VIP experiences. The expanded vision is also getting a new name as we partner with the Vermont Ski & Snowboard Museum (VTSSM) to broaden the reach of the festival and honor the legacy of their past efforts.

We are thrilled to announce the Stowe Mountain Film Festival on Friday, October 25 and Saturday, October 26!

Join us for inspiring documentary short films in the broad categories of adventure, sports, environment and culture, which reflect the interests of the Stowe community spirit, which celebrates local adventure and adventurers!

Says Meredith Scott, VTSSM Curator, “We’re thrilled to collaborate with Spruce Peak Arts on the new imagining of the Stowe Mountain Film Festival. Two days of inspiring films, conversation, educational opportunities, and special guests makes this a local event you do not want to miss! And, on Sat Oct 26 we’ll be announcing our winter screening schedule at VTSSM making this a year-round collaboration.

The Stowe Mountain Film Festival is made possible through the support of Deborah and Ron Feinstein, Spruce Peak Resort Association, RENOUN and our Media sponsor: Front Porch Forum. For sponsorship, opportunities please contact Hope Sullivan at hsullivan@sprucepeakarts.org or call 802.760.4635.
